

Would you like to take part in a research study on depression and pain?

Your participation could help develop better prevention and treatment strategies and improve many people's quality of life.

Your participation can help advance research into depression and pain.

WHAT IS THE STUDY ABOUT?

We are investigating how the body processes pain in adults with depressive disorder, and how factors such as resilience and ways of coping with pain may influence this process.

The findings may help develop better prevention and treatment strategies.

WHAT WOULD YOU NEED TO DO?

You would attend just one session lasting approximately 1 hour.

During the session:

- Questionnaires about health, mood, pain coping and aspects of personality.
- Simple tests to assess pain using controlled, safe stimuli.

This study does not include any treatment.

WHO CAN TAKE PART?

- ✓ Adults diagnosed with major depressive disorder.
- ✓ Adults who do not experience pain.

SAFETY AND SUPERVISION

The tests are safe and do not cause injury. You will be supervised at all times by qualified researchers.

YOUR PARTICIPATION IS...

Voluntary and free of charge.

You can leave the study at any time without having to explain your decision.

Your data will be handled confidentially, in accordance with current legislation.

WHERE WILL THE ASSESSMENTS TAKE PLACE?

In Huelva and Seville.

SCAN THE QR CODE

Check the information and complete a short questionnaire to find out whether you are eligible to participate.

MORE INFORMATION

Jesús Salas González
jsalas.fisioterapia@gmail.com
608 477 668

UMSS Research Group | University of Seville
Understanding Movement & Self in health from Science